

Welcome

goodluck/badluck is a collaboration between Chris Matule and Greg Korn. Our current project-- It's the Way I Disappeared Above and Below-- is a multimedia graphic novel that blends history, politics, music, writing, art and animation to tell the story of an island called San Sebastian. The first installment of three is just about done, so check back here for updates. In the meantime, follow this link to get a look (and listen) at some of the contents. For more information, write to aboveandbelow@goodluckbadluck.net.

goodluck/badluck artist bios

Chris Matule is a musician and artist currently living in San Francisco, California. Working primarily under the name badmammal, Chris has released three albums on goodluck/badluck- Carrying a Deranged Gospel Choir, Lazybones Oasis and Album 3, all of which can be purchased directly from our shop, itunes , amazon , cdbaby or digital-tunes. His music has also appeared in short films, including the 2007 Cannes Palme d'Or winner for short film - Ver Llover - by Elisa Miller. He is available for remixing work, scoring for short films, commercials, videogames, and animations. music, projects, and services * photography * on the web * contact email: chris.matule@gmail.com

Greg Korn is a writer, illustrator and animator currently living in San Francisco. He's worked on video games, album covers, t-shirts, posters, music videos and graphic shorts, and his fiction has appeared in The GW Review. Greg is available for commission work on all of the above, and would love to illustrate a kid's book one day.

artwork * writing * facebook * twitter * myspace * contact email: greg@goodluckbadluck.net